Prospects are for a good fruit year, still we can never tell, frost, drought, and the many enemies which threaten the fruit crop may destroy all of the brilliant prospects.

We Commend Him To You.

Mr. R. P. Ison, of Lancaster, has purchased the Smith property and will move his family here in about thirty days. Mr. Ison will build a store room on part of the lot and conduct an up-to-date General Merchandise store. We welcome him to our town and wish him success in his new enterprise. —Wilmore Enterprise.

Recaptured After Forfeiting Bond.

James Ray, colored, charged with stealing two mules of J. I. Hamilton and who had his examing trial in January, being held under a $600. bond forfeited this bond and was recaptured this week in St. Louis. He will be brought back immediately, where he has already been indicted and placed in jail to await trial at next term of court. It looks now as if this colored gentleman will get a term in the pen.

Come Over And Get Posted.

The Queen & Crescent system has established the telephone system of operating trains, and Owen McIntyre takes occasion to say that "this is the first road in the state to operate trains by telephone". Now we will admit that the Q & C is a crackerjack good road, but bless your soul Mac this little old Kentucky division of the L & N that runs through Lancaster has been operating their trains by telephone, with a "telephone office at each station" for over two years.

Len Miller To Join The Builders.

Len Miller whose service with the Record numbers half as many years as the age of the paper itself, and who is now the efficient foreman of the office, will build himself a handsome new residence this spring. He has purchased a splendid lot adjoining the property of postmaster W. T. West on Danville street and is now busily engaged with his plans, and with the coming of suitable weather will begin the erection of a handsome six room bungalow Mr Miller is a deserving young man and one of Lancaster's best citizens, and our people are glad of this indication that he is to make this his permanent home.

Danville's Shame.

Danville is still without hotel accommodations, and according to the local papers, there is scant prospect of a remedy in the near future. The Messenger says travelling men are giving Danville a black eye to the public over the matter. Indeed they are, and none can do so more effectively. It appears to us that with as many wealthy people as there are in Danville and Boyle county, that there surely should be found some who would loosen up their purse strings to erect a hotel in their town. Danville is a larger and much more pretentious town than Lancaster, and yet Lancaster people built a hotel, and one that is the pride of the town and county. Better get busy neighbors, you are standing in your own light.

An Angel Unaware.

The people of Lancaster, generally speaking, were unaware that among the visitors to the Masonic banquet was one of the best story tellers and impromptu speakers in the state. We have reference to Col. Ben Lee Hardin of Harrodsburg. In response to the call of the toastmaster, Col. Hardin kept those assembled about the banquet table convulsed with laughter for several minutes, and upon the reassembling of the lodge, he almost broke up the assemblage. He gathered around him in the ante room a number of admirers and good listeners and proceeded to regale them with some of his side splitting experiences, and so boisterous did they become that the jovial Colonel was compelled to desist to avoid disturbing the proceedings in the lodge room.

Nor does Col. Hardin confine himself to the lighter vein, he is deeply learned in Masonry, religion, law and many other topics and can discourse interestingly upon almost any subject, but he is at his best when telling a story and never fails to interest and delight his listeners.

Worthy Colored Man Dead.

Pleas Kennedy who for many years has worked for Hudson & Hughes at their place in this city, died Saturday of heart disease and his remains were interred in the Lancaster Colored Cemetery on Sunday. Pleas was a reliable and trustworthy colored citizen.

P. W. Wells Ill With Typhoid Fever.

Mr. P. W. Wells returned from Birmingham Ala on last Sunday, and is at the home of his sister, Mrs. Robert Gastineau near Hyattsville suffering from an attack of typhoid fever. Mr. Wells has for the past several years been connected with Mr. O. T. Wallace formerly of this place, in the real estate business in the south. His many friends hope that the attack may be in a mild form and that he may quickly recover.

Small Favor Gratefully Received.

There is considerable talk of extensive improvements in "the park" this spring, and we hope that they may become a reality. We doubt if there is any funds available to the city with which to do this work, but it seems that sufficient could be raised by private subscription to make the place a little more presentable. In the event however that nothing is attempted upon a large scale, we would suggest that the fence be straightened up, the benches repaired and placed in the park, where they belong and the "city pump" appearance which the place has worn for the past few years be somewhat improved. The trees have been trimmed, grass sown on the bare spots and covered with brush, and now stringent measures should be adopted toward the dogs, and also the loafers who roll around on the grass to its utter extermination, tear up the benches and make themselves a howling nuisance to the entire community.

The Millinery Openings.

Last Saturday was the annual Millinery Opening day for Lancaster milliners, and there is perhaps no event which attracts more pretty women to the streets than this occasion. Last Saturday, due doubtless to the pretty weather, surpassed any previous event, and the streets were fairly thronged with ladies.

Mrs. Kinnaird, Miss Rella Arnold and Mr. R. S. Brown were compelled to add materially to their regular force in order to accommodate the throngs which visited their various places, and we are informed that the sales for opening day far surpassed any previous opening days. If the exstatic rhapsodies of the fair sex may be taken as evidence, and surely they are the judges, the display of feminine headgear offered for their inspection, eclipses anything in the millinery line ever offered in Lancaster, and was fully equal to the displays in adjoining towns. Surely with all this display of hats in our local stores, it will not become necessary for any Lancaster or Garrard county lady to go away from home to secure her "Easter bonnet". A few of the attractions which usually accompany these openings, such as the giving away of flowers, music etc, was cut out this year, and we are informed that the cost of these things will be given to the customers in the way of values. In fact, every possible inducement is being offered to the ladies to buy their millinery at home, and with the splendid assortment at their disposal from which to select, and the assistance of expert milliners direct from the larger markets, we do not see but what the most fastidious could be pleased in the local stores.

Rich Sees 'Em All.

Vernon Richardson, who in addition to being Secretary to Senator Ollie James, is one of the brightest newspaper men in Washington, and who is a part owner and joint editor of the Danville Advocate, never fails to make mention of Kentuckians who visit the Capitol. It is just about as hard for a Kentuckian to get in and out of Washington without the fact being ascertained and mentioned by Rich, as it is for anyone of any prominence from out in the state to "get by" Harry Giovannioli in Lexington. In his notes to the Advocate Mr. Richardson recently had the following mention of two prominent Lancaster gentlemen who have been in Washington:

"Hon. Joe E. Robinson, the brilliant young attorney, orator and editor of Lancaster, has been in Washington the past few days taking in the sights, which he enjoyed very much. There has been much said about Mr. Robinson entering race for Congress in the Eighth District by his friends in the past several months and the writer asked him if he intended to enter this time and he stated that he did not."

Judge Lewis L. Walker, of Lancaster, has been enjoying a short visit to the Capital. He paid his respects to both of Kentucky's Senators while here. Judge Walker has always been a great admirer of Kentucky's Senior Senator. He read law in his office at Lancaster and afterward became the Senators law partner. He is regarded as one of the most brilliant of the younger members of the Kentucky bar. During Judge Walker's short period on the Circuit bench he made a host of warm friends among the good people of Boyle county and he has always been warmly welcomed to Danville since that time. He was very much interested in his visit to the Congressional Library and Mt. Vernon."

THE MASONIC GATHERING.

The Masonic fraternity of Lancaster is noted among the craft throughout the state for their hospitality, and they fairly outdid themselves on last Thursday upon the occasion of the visit of the Grand Officers of the Royal Arch headed by Hon. William Carson Black of Barbourville.

Upon the arrival of the grand officers, which was not until about 5 o'clock, work was at once commenced and continued until 6:30 when the craft was called "from labor to refreshments", and were invited to repair to the handsome club room immediately underneath the lodge room, which for the occasion had been converted into a dining room and the tables were fairly groaning under the choicest viands obtainable in Garrard county, and included old ham, turkey and the various salads which are to be constructed from these, together with all the "trimmings" and hot coffee in seemingly inexhaustible quantities. The viands were prepared and served by Mrs. W. O. Rigney and Mrs. T. Wood Burnside, and those acquainted with these good ladies know that those who partake of their cuisine can truthfully say that they never sat to better prepared or better served food than is to be had at a table over which they preside. An added attraction, and one much appreciated, was a splendid musical programme rendered on the Victrola, the property of Mr. Richard V. Anderson, which was kindly tendered for the occasion, he kindly selecting the music, consisting of classical music and selections from the leading Grand Operas.

The toasts, because of the pressure for time, were few and short. Mr. W. O. Rigney acted as toastmaster, and explained the necessity of curtailing this usually interesting part of a Masonic banquet because of the fact that the amount of work necessary to be accomplished during the night required that the craft should be "called to labor" as soon as possible, and after doing ample justice to the elegant and substantial repast, the lodge and their guests repaired again to their lodge room where work was resumed and continued until after midnight.

The three degrees, Mark Master, Past Master and Most Excellent Master were conferred by the visiting team after which they put on the Royal Arch degree, thus completing the work in this branch of masonry in one night, a big undertaking, but one which after one sees these offices under Grand High Priest Black go through with, they can readily understand why he heads this particular branch of the craft in Kentucky. Among those who took active part in conferring of the degrees was Grand Secretary Dave Jackson of Louisville, who is known as "Smiling Dave" and is perhaps one of the best and most favorably known Masons in the state.

The inspecting officer Rev. J. C. McKee of London was present, and after the visitors had completed their work, the local team conferred a degree for his benefit. Their efforts met with his hearty approval, and both he and the visitors were loud in their praise of the efficiency of the Lancaster team. The local Chapter was pronounced in splendid condition by the inspector who cheerfully gave them a "clean bill of health". Including the visitors, about 150 Masons attended the meeting and the work of the visiting team as well as that of the local men was deeply appreciated by all who attended.

Among those from a distance who attended were Judge W. C. Black, W. H. Green, W. H. McDonald and R. W. Cole of Barbourville, Dave Jackson, Louisville, Rev. J. C. McKee and J. B. Eberlein of London, W. R. Mounce and J. M. Mahan of Williamsburg; Col. B. L. Hardin, James Reed, W. K. Cardwell Jr. and I. E. Bruner of Harrodsburg; Messrs Chas. N. Smith, J. M. Nichols, H. L. Nichols and Hugh Moore of Danville, as well as a number from other places whose names we failed to obtain. There was also a goodly number of visitors from Paint Lick, Brantsville and through the county, who helped to swell the throng.

The occasion was a particularly pleasing one to those who attended and the exemplification of the degrees were particularly interesting and instructive to those who were of sufficient rank to attend the conferring of this work. However the banquet, which was not confined to Royal Arch Masons exclusively, but every member of the local blue lodge was invited to be present. The occasion was a fitting and pleasant house warming for the newly established club room which has been recently installed, and which is a credit to the fraternity and in furnishing and comforts, stands second to none in the state, and which came in for an equal share of praise with the splendid banquet which was served.

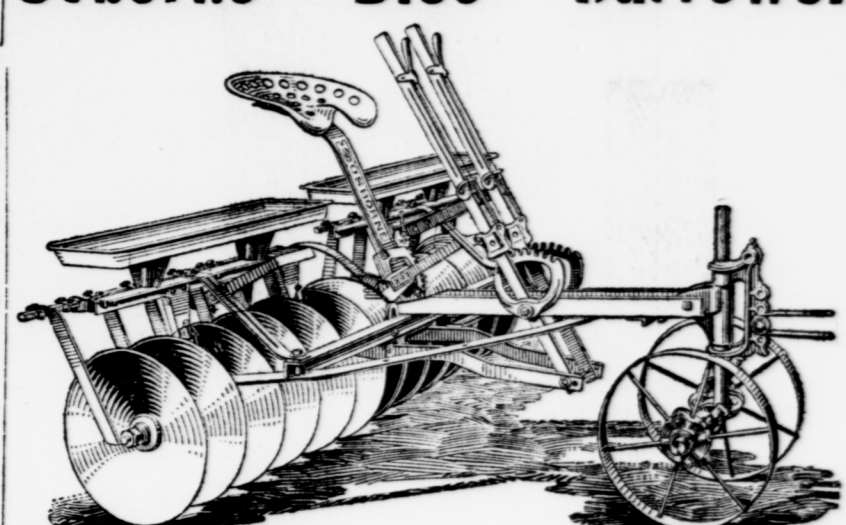

Mrs. West Improving.

Mrs. Alex West who was reported in last week's issue of the Record as being critically ill of pneumonia, is much improved and barring the unforeseen will soon be able to be out.

Pleasantly Remembered.

One of our dear friends remembered us this week with some beautiful flowers, which brought cheer to our hearts and sunshine to the entire office force, for all of which we are very grateful.

The Stray Pen.

The stray pen underneath the water tower is now complete and "ready for occupancy", and if you do not wish your stock to become a visitor to the hostelry, you had better keep them off the street. Chief Herron announces that he will respond promptly to all complaints about stock running at large and will promptly impound the offenders. In addition to this he has added several colored boys to his staff who will receive a part of the impounding fees for all stray stock which they bring in. This sounds good to those who each year endeavor to have neat lawns and flowers, and who have their efforts fraught to naught by the inroads of straying stock.

Farmers Busy.

At odd times farmers are getting in their work, in some localities oats have been sown, the plowing is being completed, tobacco beds burned and sown and gardens planted. Wheat, rye and grass are all looking extremely well, and live stock which has gone through the winter on "roughness" will soon be luxuriating in good grass. The fact that winter continued to such a late date, leads to the belief that the prospects for killing frosts are vague, and the rapidly budding fruit may blossom out without the fear of being "winter killed."

Farmers are taking a bright view of the prospect for the year, and good crops and prosperous times are freely predicted.

School Trustees Have Splendid Opportunity To Attend The Meeting Of The K. E. A. In Louisville In April.

The Garrard county Board of Education has decided to defray the railroad fare of such trustees of the various schools of the county as may desire to attend the meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association, which meets in Louisville on April 28, 29 and 30th.

At first glance this appears to be a useless expenditure of the school funds, but it has been thoroughly demonstrated that the more interest created among the trustees, the more good accrues to the schools, and nothing could create more interest among them than to bring them in close touch with the various educational gathering throughout the state. Therefore every trustee in the county who can possibly do so should attend this gathering, the additional expense will amount to very little, and the benefit derived from the visit will be well worth the expenditure of both the time and money invested.

Miss Mary Pettus is at Richmond attending the East Kentucky Normal.

It is reported that there are a number of cases of smallpox near Dripping Springs.

Mr. Jerry Arnold, who has been sick for some time, visited his brother in Garrard.

Mrs. Grover Gastineau, of Point Leavell, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Naylor.

There will be services Saturday and Sunday at the Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. J. M. Rogers.

Mrs. D. M. Anderson and son, Clarence, visited her daughter, Mrs. Burch Hester, near Stanford.

Mrs. William Bartles received word last week stating that her mother, Mrs. J. W. Blankenship was quite ill at her home near Harrodsburg.

Patrons on the line of the Preachersville Farmers' Telephone Co., who endeavored to send messages over their wires Sunday morning found things not to their liking. Something during the night preceding had put the wires out of commission. Mr. John B. Anderson was soon following the line towards Stanford, knowing the trouble lay in that direction as perfect communication could be had with the Preachersville terminus of the line. Near the high bluffs on Dick's River a fine copper wire was found tied to both wires thus causing a short circuit. This was found in other places and after all had been removed the line was in its regular apple pie order. Only a month has elapsed since the line was erected and this makes the second time the line has been tampered within the same manner. It is not known whether this is the work of someone who holds enmity against the company, or whether it is the thoughtless deed of some very ignorant or very reckless youth, but we wish to warn the guilty party that such work will not be tolerated by the patrons very long and he had best refrain from such deeds in the future. It is understood that a reward will be offered for the apprehension of the guilty party. "A word to the wise is sufficient."

Of a Different Kind. "Oh, Will," she said, moving a trifle closer to him, "I am so glad you are not rich! They say that some of these millionaires receive threatening letters saying that something dreadful will happen to them if they don't pay the writers sums of money." "Oh, is that all?" replied Will. "Why, I get plenty of such letters."—Yonkers Statesman.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson I.—Second Quarter, For April 5, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xiv, 7-24. Memory Verses, 13, 14—Golden Text, Luke xiv, 11—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearna.

As He ate bread in the house of one of the chief Pharisees on the Sabbath day He not only healed a man who had the dropsy (xiv, 1-6), but He had a special message for the guests and then for the host and later for one of the guests who had made an interesting remark. Oh, how He did live before God and seek the souls of men, fearing no one's frown and desiring no one's favor. To the guests He taught humility, for then as now there was often a desire for the best place that could be obtained. Humility is a rare virtue, and few there seem to be who in lowliness of mind esteem others better than themselves (Phil. ii, 3). There was only one who was perfect in humility and lowliness, the speaker on this occasion, and He could truly say, "I am meek and lowly in heart" (Matt. xi, 29). Exalting self is like anti-christ (Dan. xi, 36; II Thess. ii, 4; Rev. xiii, 5, 6), but renouncing self is Christ-like, for He made Himself of no reputation and took upon Him the form of a servant (Phil. ii, 7, 8). See also verse 11 of our lesson.

His message to His host was in reference to a future rather than a present recompense. How common it is to be kind to those who can return the kindness, to invite those to enjoy our hospitality who can return the invitation. How much of social life is filled up in this way? This may seem all right for those who know no better way. But when in church work, supposed to be the Lord's work, people act as if money could be obtained only by giving a present equivalent in the form of a lecture or an entertainment or something to eat, does it not all seem contrary to our Lord's admonition to this host? My own intense conviction is that giving or living only for a present equivalent is all wrong, and I have proved in a ministry of over thirty years that the love of Christ and the need of those who never heard of it will constrain people to give freely to help make Him known and gladly await the recompense in His kingdom in connection with the resurrection of the just.

It does not appear from the Scriptures that believers are rewarded at death, though it is a common saying that he or she has gone to his or her reward. The truth concerning the dead in Christ is that they rest from their labors and their works do follow them, but rewards are promised only at His coming again (Rev. xiv, 13; xxii, 12; I Pet. v, 4). Here is a plain reference in verse 14 of our lesson to the difference between the resurrection of the just and the unjust. That there shall be both is written in Acts xxiv, 15, but that there shall be a thousand years between them is just as plainly written in Rev. xx, 5, 6. The hour of John v, 28, does not conflict with this, for the hour of John v, 25, has already lasted nearly 1,900 years, and that of verses 28, 29, may easily cover the two resurrections at the beginning and end of the thousand years.

His mention of the resurrection of the just seems to have led one of the guests to remark, "Blessed is he that shall eat bread in the kingdom of God" (verse 15), which he evidently associated with the resurrection. This led our Lord to speak of the great supper and of the way the invitations were treated and of the excuses which men will make rather than accept the invitation. He seems to reply to the remark of the guest that men are more interested in property and in earthly enjoyments than in the things of the kingdom.

The things unseen and eternal are so unreal to most people that things seen and temporal hold all their attention. Contrast the way of the believers in II Cor. iv, 17, 18. The redemption which leads to the kingdom is described as a great supper fully prepared, and the invited ones have only to come and enjoy it. It is probable that the invitations of this chief of the Pharisees, in whose house they were, had all been accepted eagerly, but the invitations of which our Lord spoke were treated far otherwise. The great salvation has been fully prepared by the life and death and resurrection of the Lord Jesus, nothing can be added to it; but, oh, the cost of it all to the Father who gave His only Son and to the Son who gave Himself! And all is offered freely, for "the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord." "We are justified freely by His grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus" (Rom. vi, 23, R. V.; iii, 24). How often we hear Him say "Come!" from Gen. vii, 1 to Rev. xxii, 17; notably in Isa. i, 18; Matt. xi, 28, and how frivolous are men's excuses when compared with the importance of the salvation offered them and the glory of His kingdom.

I have heard of one man who was led to accept the great invitation by the remark, "There will be no excuses at the bar of God." Meantime, the devil, the god of this world, is busily blinding the minds of them which believe not lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them (II Cor. iv, 3, 4). Yet the word stands "Whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely."

The Reason Fewer

People Take "Salts".

We find the use of salts and other harsh physics is becoming less every year because more and more people are using Rexall Orderlies, which we and they firmly believe to be the best bowel remedy ever made. They taste so much like candy that even the children like them. At the same time they act so easily and naturally that there is no purging, griping or pain. They promptly remove the constipation and, by soothing and strengthening the bowels, make it less liable to occur again. We have the utmost faith in them. We know what they are made of and the pleasant, beneficial results that always follow their use.

You needn't take our word for it. If Rexall Orderlies don't help you—if they don't entirely relieve all your bowel troubles—come back and tell us and we'll give back your money. In vest pocket tin boxes; 10c, 25c, 50c.

You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at The Rexall Stores, and in this town only of us.

President Wilson's administration faced its first real test at Washington last Friday when Congress had under consideration a measure to repeal the law permitting coastwise vessels carrying American goods to pass through Panama canal free of toll. The Democratic Administration considered this repeal necessary and seem to stake all upon having the present law repealed. The debate incidental to the Administration's policy is said to be the most bitter had in Washington in many years and it is indeed gratifying to Democrats everywhere who are in sympathy with the success of President Wilson and the party that the President will be successful in having his plans carried out.

It is generally conceded that the coastwise shipping industry is owned and controlled by a Trust and that there is no competition in shipping rates. While it is alleged that these are American vessels seeking to go through the canal free of toll it is equally true that the American people now shall have but little interest in this industry. The people as a whole of the United States have contributed to the building of the canal and we see no good reason why a subsidy should be granted by the Government to aid a shipping industry by permitting free tolls through the people's national waterway. The maintaining of the Panama Canal will entail a great expense upon the Government and all ships passing through the canal ought to be required to pay toll and thus sufficient funds be collected to meet this expense.

The Democratic Party has always opposed ship subsidy and free tolls through the Canal can be nothing more than a violation of one of the fundamental principles long recognized by our party, which we think furnishes the President a reason equally as good for his position as that free tolls to American vessels is in violation of a contract made with England when this Canal was built. Those few Democrats who went back on the administration at this crisis of the party will receive little comfort from their constituents at home.

It is conceded that Speaker Champ Clark made the greatest speech ever heard from him in his twenty-two years in congress in defending his position against the repeal of the free toll measure. The President was complimented and the administration praised unstintingly in his eloquent appeal which was received with great enthusiasm by his colleagues of all parties. The speaker is complimented upon the tactful speech made at a time when the party was in great peril and it is thought that his speech will aid in keeping the party united.

Mrs. James B. Collier In Serious Condition.

The many friends of Mrs. James B. Collier will regret to learn of her serious illness. Mrs. Collier has been ill for some time, and it was intended to bring her to Lancaster, she was expected to arrive here today, however her condition was such as to prevent and the time of her arrival is not known. Mrs. Collier has been at the home of her son at Fork Ridge Tenn.

Free Toll Law To Be Repealed

Although every step for its consideration was attended with great excitement and with the leaders of all parties divided at Washington, it is now conceded that the Simms Bill will pass both Houses at Washington and that the Administration's Policy will be successful. There has been a good deal of feeling among leaders of the Democratic Party and the debate in Lower House was very bitter at times. Speaker Clark, it is alleged, still feeling keenly his defeat by the President for the nomination has taken this opportunity to get even with his successful opponent and has thereby taken a decided stand against the leader of his party. He was very severely criticized upon the floor of the House by leaders of the Administration. It is gratifying to Democrats of Kentucky that the President will have the solid delegation of Kentucky backing the party at this crisis with the exception of the Hon. Harvey Helm, who joined the recalcitrant Democrats when his assistance was needed most to uphold his party in an hour of peril. But the Administration will be successful, notwithstanding the desertion of a number of Democrats who were expected to stand with the party at a time of such a crisis.

Eighth District Christian Endeavor Convention Held In Lancaster A Great Success.

The annual Convention of the Eighth District Christian Endeavor was held in Lancaster, beginning Friday evening March 27th and ending Sunday evening March 30th. All of the exercises were held at the Christian church with the exception of Sunday evening, when they were held in the Chapel of the Graded School. The Convention, was one of the most successful ever held, and the visitors aside from being delighted with the success of the meeting were loud in their praise of the hospitality of the Lancaster people.

Prof. R. H. Crossfield of Lexington, Dr. B. H. Roberts of Berea and Rev. H. L. Calhoun of Lexington were among the distinguished visitors from a distance who addressed the various sessions during the meeting, while the officers of the society and the local clergy made interesting talks from time to time. The musical programme rendered by Misses Florence Johnson, Mamie Stormes Dunn, Martha Tindler, Ruth Carrier and Bernice Champ and Messrs Allen Johnson and Bradley Bourne, not only added materially to the interest of the various meetings, but thoroughly demonstrated the talent and splendid musical training of these young people.

247 To 161 Tolls Repeal Bill Passes House By Above Figures And President Is Sustained.

On last Tuesday night after one of the most bitter struggles ever waged in the National House of Representatives, that body voted to repeal the provisions of the Panama Canal Act exempting American Vessels from the payment of tolls, by a vote of 247 to 161 thereby sustaining President Wilson in his contention for what he termed "the nations honor". The result, while a victory, was but the beginning of victory for the administration, for the measure will now go to the Senate, and it will be attacked today pending its passage before that body with as much vigor as marked its turbulent journey through the House.

With Speaker Clark and Leader Underwood championing the opposition and putting up such a fight as these two mighty leaders are able to give, the battle waxed warm indeed, and the victory for the administration was all the greater for the stubborn opposition. On the final vote 220 Democrats sustained the President in his contention, and they were joined by 25 Republicans and 2 Progressives; 52 Democrats followed Speaker Clark to ignominious defeat in championing what he held was the mistaken policy of the President that toll exemption for American vessels was a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty with Great Britain.

The Kentucky delegation voted as follows; for the repeal of the measure Messrs Barkley, Cantrill, Fields, Johnson, Rouse, Shirley, Stanley, Thomas while Messrs Helm, Powers and Langley voted against it.

When the news of the success of the measure was brought to the President he was at the dinner table, and while exhibiting marked gratification, he declined to comment.

"JOSEPH AND HIS BRETHREN"

At Lexington Opera House.

By far the biggest thing which comes to Lexington will be the splendid pageant drama, "Joseph and His Brethren" at the Lexington Opera House for three nights April 13, 14 and 15th, with matinee Wednesday 15th.

This marvelous production is the third and greatest of the Colossal Liebler Co., spectacles from the Century Theatre, New York, the companion play to "The Garden of Allah" and "The Daughter of Heaven."

"Joseph and His Brethren" is universally conceded to be the most magnificent theatrical show yet given in America. In London it is now being done by an English company headed by Sir Beerbohm Tree and Miss Maxine Elliott, but next week Lexington gets the original New York production with its world of scenery and effects and the same superb cast of principals which played the piece there all last winter. There are four acts, eleven massive scenes, and a small army of two hundred and fifty people concerned in the play. Brandon Tynan plays Joseph; that sterling stage veteran, James O'Neill, Jacob; and the most beautiful woman on the American stage, Pauline Frederick, the role of Potiphar's wife. Other notable actors in the cast are W. T. Carleton, Henry Harmon, Charles D. Herman, Rosina Henley, dramatist E. E. Rose's clever daughter, Ruth Rose, and five score more of the favorites who delighted New York audiences for six months.

The story is told in the sonorous classical English of the Bible itself. The author is Louis N. Parker, the most famous playwright of the present day, who has given the contemporary stage John Drew's "Rosemary", "George Arliss' "Disraeli", "Pomander Walk", "Drake" etc.

The scenery is beyond all description. So massive beautiful and intricate is it that a force of one hundred men are necessary for its handling. There are herds of camels, oxen, asses, goats, horses, and sheep. There is a ballet corps of twenty-four dancers in the wonderful palace scene in Pharaoh's court. In a word, Joseph and His Brethren is the last word in modern stagecraft and spectacular drama. During its engagement here the evening performances will begin at 8 o'clock sharp and the matinees at 2 p. m. Seats may be ordered by mail if remittance is enclosed together with a self addressed stamped envelope. Prices 50-75-$1.00, $1.50 and $2.00.

Chas. Scott, Mgr.

SENATOR CHARLES F. MONTGOMERY.

We know of no young man that has arisen so rapidly in public favor as Senator Charles F. Montgomery of Liberty who represented the Counties of Garrard, Lincoln, Boyle and Casey in the upper House during the General Assembly. While he was not at all times with the majority of his associates in the Senate the positions he took that brought him into disagreement, added to his popularity with his constituents. In fact to be popular with the people it was necessary for members of the last Legislature to be in the minority. Senator Montgomery was one of the most active members of the Senate against the Glenn Insurance

Bill, against the passage of which the people of his district were almost unanimous. He used his best efforts for the enactment of the Anti-pass Bill. Although Senator Montgomery possesses very decided views upon public questions he was polite and considerate of the opinion of others, which made him one of the most popular and influential representatives in Frankfort. The reputation he made by the firm stand at all times at Frankfort on behalf of the people's interest with his personal popularity, makes Senator Montgomery one of the most promising young democrats in this section of Kentucky, and we predict for him a bright future.

News Of The Churches.

There will be preaching at the Methodist church in Lancaster Sunday morning and evening. All members are requested to be present.

Rev. C. C. Ellis, of Paint Lick, and formerly the pastor of the Baptist church here, will preach Sunday morning and evening here in Rev. Beagle's place who is now conducting a successful meeting at Barbourville.

From the many activities along that line, Lancaster promises a number of beautiful lawns this summer.

Here's Hoping He Lands.

Mr. Bruce Arnold, who formerly lived in Lancaster Ky, has been in Washington the past few days making an effort to secure a position in the Income Tax Department of the United States Treasury. Mr. Arnold left Lancaster seven years ago and since that time has been in New York City, where he has been a secret service man. The greater part of the time he has been stationed in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, where his attention was given to the security of the guests and their belongings. "Rich" in Advocate.

The above article refers to Bruce Arnold who was born and raised near Lancaster. He is a son of the late George T. Arnold, a brother of Mrs. W. H. Ward and Mrs. Webb Raney and a nephew of Mr. H. T. Logan, and has many friends and relatives in Lancaster who hope he may succeed in landing the position he is seeking.

The dam of this Jack is John Morgan bred, and traces back to such famous sires as Beecher, Prime Minister and Joe Blackburn.

SILVER SILK.

A beautiful black and white spotted pony, 54 inches high, good style and action, is sired by Sam Cecil's pony who has as many blue ribbons to his credit as any pony in Boyle county. His dam is an extra good pony mare and he certainly shows good breeding. They will stand at $8.00 Each To Insure A Living Colt.

A lien will be retained on all colts until season money is paid and the season due from the man who bred the mare, if sold or parted with. Care taken to prevent accidents but not responsible should any occur.

Registered Hampshire Hogs for Sale at All Times.

Alexander Stamp, 12696.

Foaled April 12, 1906, bay blaze and three white feet, sired by William Stamp, 9749.

Dam Sally Hamilton, 12426. This is an awful good breeding Clyde breeds, good form, head and close to ground. Just the horse to get work and brood mares from.

Recently I met a Ranchman from South Dakota who bred over 100 mares yearly and he said "The Clyde horse was the only draft he could get, that would get him a saleable horse from a Texas pony mare up," this means a great deal as our horses are too small as a rule for work or good mule mares. This horse has proven as sure as any horse I ever kept for service.

$12.00 TO INSURE.

I will also at same time and place stand Two Black Jacks, 15 and 15½ hands, standard, as much bone, foot, head and ear as Kentucky affords with lots of weight, both sound and prompt. Look at the above stock before breeding.

Jacks Stand at $10.00 To Insure.

These Jacks were bred in Nelson County, Kentucky, and by what was known as the Bivion Jack, considered by all who know him to be as great as the greatest. He was 16 hands high. Dam of older Jack was by Governor Wood, a great one. I guarantee satisfaction when your colt comes. Above stock will make the season of 1914 at Buena Vista, Ky. A lien retained on all colts for season money. For further information, apply to Bleucher 46158, record 2:29½, trial mile 2:14½, half in 1:06, last quarter in 32 seconds, is a handsome seal brown horse, and will weigh 1100 pounds. He greatly resembles his good sire Silent Brook and is out of Clayo, by the great Futurity sire Moko. A grand combination of two of the best race horse families of the present day. He being a real race horse himself, having had very little training and most of that by an amateur. It certainly looks like this horse is of Grand Circuit caliber, and if given half a chance he will win his share of the money sure.

BLEUCHER is a perfect type of a road horse, good gaited with perfect manners, wears no boots or weights. He has an undefeated record in the Station Road Class for 1913, and is conceded by good judges to be the best road horse out this year.

This is a good opportunity for Garrard and adjoining counties to breed in the best families of the trotting blood. Look this horse's breeding over and see how many they have in the list both sire and dam.

This great trotting Stallion will make the season of 1914 at my stable in Lancaster, Kentucky, at by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous membrane.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SCAB ON CATTLE.

Simple Remedy For This Common Pest of the Farm Stable.

"Barnyard Itch" is a white scabby growth around the eyes and in blotches on the neck and sometimes farther back on the body. It is a parasite and will spread from one animal to another and will live for years in a barn that has been infected by cattle that have it. It is transmissible to people handling cattle so affected if they should happen to rub the affected spots with bare wrist or hand, as one is apt to do in tying or stanchioning. On the human it comes as hundreds of small festers, which scab over and keep spreading and are very painful.

After trying everything I could think of, even the best carbolic acid, brushed on with a feather, and only aggravating the sore, in my desperation one day I mixed some hog's lard and sulphur together, rubbed it on freely, and the sores disappeared like magic, says C. W. Cobb in the National Stockman. I used it on cattle with like results. I smeared the stanchions with the mixture and have never had a case of it since. I have told others of it, and they have used it and killed the scab on their cattle. The remedy is so simple and easily made that a child can make and use it. Just mix hog's lard full of sulphur and rub it in thoroughly.

Danger In Feeding Salt.

There is considerable danger in feeding salt to ewes just before lambing time. Many cases have been known where abortion has been traced directly to the use of salt during this period. Sheep must have salt and plenty of it, but this is one time during the life cycle when it should be withheld. Not only have bad results been noticed from the feeding of salt, but when sheep have been fed a liberal supply of beets or turnips abortion has been more prevalent than otherwise. This is attributed to the fact that there is more salt in these feeds than in others.

Wheat as a Cattle Feed.

In finishing cattle for market considerable grain is required. Steers cannot consume enough of the ordinary roughage to lay on much fat. While corn is generally considered almost indispensable in finishing stock for market, wheat can be used very satisfactorily as a substitute. Owing to the fact that the grains of wheat are small and hard it is necessary to grind it in order to secure the best results.

Watch the Lambs.

Sheep more than any other domestic animals require variety in food, says the Farm and Fireside. In the fields they are able to cater for themselves, but in the yards they are dependent on their keeper, and it is up to him, if he hopes to make the best possible profit out of them, to see that this desire for variety is as far as possible gratified. After lambing is over a much wider range of feeding is admissible, and, in fact, there is hardly anything in the range of grains, meals, succulents and roughages which may not safely be given to ewes with their lambs so long as they seem to enjoy and fairly clean up what is given them. "Watch the lambs" is the best rule to follow. If they show signs of falling off the source of the trouble is almost sure to be found in something in the feeding or care of the ewes that needs a change. Impure water, foul air, rotten lair, dirty feeding troughs, want of salt, exposure to heavy rains, rough treatment of any kind—any of these evils if continued will greatly help to lessen the hoped for profits.

Clean the Barnyard.

Piles of manure and manure puddles are in very bad form around the dairy barn and look bad for the owner, says the Farm Journal. Manure is too valuable to be allowed to lie in heaps or spread around the yard. It should be spread on the land daily, or be put under shelter. From a sanitary standpoint it should be removed from the buildings. There was a time when a farmyard stench was regarded as healthful, but in our day we have learned better. There is now absolutely no excuse for a filthy hogpen.

Electrifying Celluloid.
If you will take two thin lengths of celluloid, put them in contact and then suddenly and rapidly pull them between your fingers, you will observe they both have become electrified—not only on their outside surfaces, where the friction of your fingers caused a negative electrification, but also on the inner surfaces of the celluloid.

World to Be Frozen to Death. The received religious doctrine is that our planet is to perish by fire, but a prominent astronomer holds that its doom and the universe's doom—an inconceivably far-off doom—is to be frozen to death; "the ultimate end is absolute frigidity in the blackness of interstellar night."

Hawk Probably "Rattled." A hawk attacked a woman teacher recently in Pelford council school, Llanelli, Wales. The bird flew through the open window and clinging to the woman's blouse was only dislodged with difficulty when one of the male teachers came to the rescue. The bird is now in a cage in one of the classrooms.

Cow Particular as to Its Tipple. A Tralee (England) farmer has a cow which refuses to drink water supplied in the ordinary way. Then she is thirsty she leaves the field, goes to a lane where there is a water tap, turns this on and takes a drink. The story is supported by photographs, and the cow is credited with turning the tap off after drinking.

Use Oxygen for Blasting. Experiments are being conducted in Germany to discover the usability of liquid air and liquid oxygen as explosives for mines, says the Coal Age. The liquid oxygen is mixed with aluminum powder and detonated, producing a force 2 1/2 times that produced by black powder. One advantage that it possesses is that no bad fumes are produced.

SHELTER FOR HOGS FOLLOWING CATTLE

The place for stock at this season is where there are natural barriers to the winds, trees and hills, with reference especially to a high background toward the north, says R. L. Dean in the National Stockman. The question of shelter for hogs in winter is not solely one of a place for them to sleep. When they follow other stock creature comforts apply to them alike. A tight board fence would be a good improvement on the knoll mentioned above. Then as soon as possible plant some trees. Groves of catalpa or osage or ange are frequently planted for this purpose. However, for real protection

The crossbred is the hog that will make and has made good bank accounts, says an Ohio hog raiser. Furthermore, we know just where we are getting off, with no frills nor sentiment attached in these days of high priced feed, labor and the ravages of hog cholera. My ideal hog is produced by using a mature Tamworth sire with a pure bred Berkshire, Duroc-Jersey, Poland China or Chester White sow, and I prefer them in the order named. The picture shows the long snout characteristic of the pure bred Tamworth hog.

a double line of Norway spruce is very good. The tree is easier to grow and more vigorous than other pines.

As is well known, the hair covering the hogs is not sufficient to protect them from excessive cold. They huddle to keep warm or burrow into straw or leaves to shelter them from winds. These places are often damp. The hogs emerge from such places hot and steaming. The sudden effect of the chill is injurious. It is not likely that hogs kept with feeding cattle under these conditions will thrive well.

The solution of the problem lies in a proper protection for the yards and warm and dry quarters for sleeping. Some stock handlers locate their feeding yards in the heart of a thick woods and succeed in keeping their stock quite comfortable. Ordinarily a straw stack is located in the feeding yard. This is an advantage to the cattle, but not to the hogs. Yet the hogs like to sleep around these stacks. The difficulty is that it is hard to keep hogs with cattle in open lots without the disadvantage of their burrowing into the straw or under the feeding boxes. The colder the lot the greater the tendency to huddle together.

The better way is to shut the hogs away from the stacks and boxes at night, providing a warm and dry shelter for them. It may be that an apartment in the barn or other building can be opened to them. We find our hog house with wooden floor eighteen inches above ground furnishes a satisfactory sleeping place for hogs in winter. We have not tried the concrete floor, but the elevated wooden floor is usually dry. This building is boarded close to the ground. Large hogs do not particularly require bedding, but pigs need more warmth, and bedding is supplied them.

THE FRESHENING COW.

Ration to Prepare Animal For the Lactation Period.

The care of a cow before freshening usually has a very marked influence upon the work she will do during the coming lactation period, says Round's Dairyman. Cows that are run down in flesh should be given a ration while dry that will build them up and prepare them for the work of the coming year.

Immediately prior to freshening the rations should consist of light feeds that are not too heating in character. If the herd has been cared for in some such manner we would suggest that they be worked up gradually to a ration consisting of about twenty-five pounds of corn silage, twenty pounds of roots, with as much clover or alfalfa hay as they care to consume twice each day and corn fodder once a day in such quantities as will be consumed without unnecessary waste. This roughage could well be supplemented by a grain mixture of 300 pounds of ground corn, 300 pounds ground oats and 200 pounds wheat bran. It will be necessary to feed this grain ration at the rate of about one pound to every three and a half to four pounds of milk produced.

Hustle the Brood Sow.

We believe in the theory of getting the sow in fairly good flesh before farrowing time, and if she is fed enough to accomplish this purpose she will be lazy. When sows have access to nice comfortable beds at all times of the day and night they spend entirely too much time loafing, and in order to head this off we very strongly favor the plan of turning them into pastures when the weather is at all agreeable and keeping them there for several hours each day. As the gestation period advances it will pay, and pay well, to feed them some of their grain at a considerable distance away from their sleeping quarters, thus making exercise compulsory.—Iowa Homestead.
